Abstract

The Christian life in the mysterious Body of the Lord is like a journey through the sea of history, often dark and turbulent. In this pilgrimage to eternal life, the Church teaches us to search for the saints of God, the true polar stars that point the way to the Kingdom of Heaven. They lived life according to God's commandments and loved Him with all their heart. The saints, lovers of the heavenly Bridegroom, are lights of hope that do not replace the Lord of glory with anything else in this world. Only the Savior Jesus Christ is the Light par excellence, the Sun of righteousness, which illuminates those who are gripped by the darkness of sin. Obviously, in order to reach His love, we also need "luminaries" close to Him, people who have received His love and light and who themselves give, on the principle of the gift given, love from His love and light. Of course, the one who received the most grace from God and loved God the most than all men put together is the Virgin Mary, the Mother of God. The Most Pure Mother of God is the Mother of Hypostatic Love, the star of hope of our salvation. Through her answer to the Most High, the Most Holy Lady opened to God the Father the door of love for the whole world.
