Abstract

In this article I have proposed to present the way in which Saint Cyril of Jerusalem fulfills the role of a teacher. As such, the article will focus on the following aspects: to begin with, I will present some aspects related to the educational activity of Saint Cyril of Jerusalem. Later, I will present the way in which he fulfills the role of pedagogue in the catechetical context and how he describes himself as a teacher. Finally, I will analyze those passages from his writings in which religious education is defined and presents its content.
